Case of the 'Mutilated' License Much Travail Over Torn Corner

By BOB PETERSON

The names in this story are real. All the facts have been included to give an accurate picture. And if any similar experiences come to mind, it is intentional.

It was a routine morning for Marcia Lanterman that Thursday in June, as she was traveling northbound on Skyline Boulevard, near Sharp Park Road in San Bruno.

The Pacific kindergarten teacher was on her way to Fairmont School.

At that same 19 minutes past the hour of eight, San Bruno Police Officer Barry Woodard was on patrol. He noticed that a tail light was out on Miss Lanterman's car. So he stopped her. During the routine of checking her driver's license, he saw that it had a corner torn off. So he cited her for having a mutilated driver's license.

Miss Lanterman, being a conscientious law-abiding individual, immediately had the tail light fixed, and applied for a new driver's license.

This week she appeared before Municipal Court Judge Walter Copaceli, in South San Francisco, nearly three months after the original incident.

Herein lies her complaint. In the first place, according to her, too big a deal was made of the fact that her license had part of the corner torn off. "There was no name, other writing or number gone," she emphasized. She pointed out that the license got innocently torn in her wallet.

And because of that (and the tail light) she had to post $36 bail (which was returned), appear in court and "plead guilty to a torn corner." Not to mention taking time off from school to do it.

To Miss Lanterman the entire court scene was a waste of time. "Not only my time, but the judge's time, the clerical time, and who knows who else's time," she said. "I had already gotten a new license, and fixed the tail light. I don't understand why it should go that far," she said. "It turns into a great big deal."

Judge Copaceli agreed that it's "a small thing." But added that according to law, "it requires an appearance" in court. The judge pointed out that the intent of the law requiring that drivers' licenses be kept in good shape is to prevent alterations of the document.

"Many people let their licenses go through the washing machine," said Judge Copaceli. "I don't get too excited. I just want to make sure they have a new one. If so, fine. We're even. I don't think it's an unreasonable request," he said. San Bruno Police Sgt. Jack Gibson said the amount of forgery involving drivers' licenses is "unbelievable."

"They are used for check cashing, and with a stolen credit card and a forged driver's license, gone is thousands of dollars," said Gibson.

He explained that the officers in patrol are instructed to be alert, and look closely at all licenses.

"Many times someone will have a license that has expired, and a routine check will turn up something much bigger," said Gibson. He pointed out that as recent as two years ago a drivers' license forgery ring was discovered in the San Jose area. San Bruno Police Capt. Bill Cann said the "system" that forced Miss Lanterman into court "unfortunately is perpetuated by people who do not conform," as Miss Lanterman did.

"Four out of ten people don't take care of their traffic ticket on the first contact," said the captain. "They sign a promise to appear, and the citation is sent to court. But traffic tickets don't mean anything to people."

Under the normal process a notice is mailed within a month, and if the person doesn't post bail a warrant is issued, and sent to the particular police department to enforce it.

Captain Cann said his department then sends another note to the individual telling them they have five days to post the bail or be arrested. After that there is another contact made, either by phone or in person.

He said a lot of unnecessary work is generated by the public for its police department, and in many instances by the same people.

This is a problem that admittedly many must cooperate in to solve. As for the problem with the fraudulent drivers' licenses, the Department of Motor Vehicles recently instituted a new format for drivers' licenses and a non-driver identification card.

The new license and card, now produced in color, utilizes several new safeguards against fraudulent drivers' licenses, the department said.

The front of the license, or card, is covered with a special security sealant, which contains hidden reproductions of at least three California State Seals interspersed with the word "California."

According to the DMV, these markings become visible only when the license or card is held at arm's length, and a flashlight, held at nose level, is directed at the surface.

This procedure, say officials of the department, will immediately highlight any fraudulent alteration or addition to the individual license. The license and card also no longer bear the age of the individual, rather his birth date. The new licenses are now being issued.

In the meantime, while the old licenses are yet to expire, it is best not to "mutilate" them.

Revenue Sharing Is Confusing: Tunney

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The only thing for sure about the federal government's new revenue sharing plan for cities is that no one seems to be sure how it works.

In a nutshell the present method of computing what slice of the money pie cities will get can best be described as:

The rich get richer and the poor get poorer.

Senator John V. Tunney was in South San Francisco Sunday attempting to explain the program to elected city officials and their representatives at a mid-morning meeting. He was accompanied by Assemblyman Leo Ryan.

But the Senator was unable to answer every complex question dealing with the revenue sharing bill.

Tunney called the present bill "highly confusing" and said in his estimation "only one or two statisticians in the nation really understand the formulae used to figure each city's share."

Ryan added he was in favor of revenue sharing "but with great reservations." It calls for continuing investigation and modification, both officials agreed.

So confusing, is revenue sharing, at this point that many local city officials simply don't know how the government arrives at its shares. Tunney failed to clear up many of the complex details concerning this matter.

As an example, Redwood City Manager Jim Fales said he was unsure as to how the government arrived at his city's share.

Under the Senate plan for revenue sharing, California would have received $60 million, while under the House bill the state gets $50 million—$10 million less. When the compromise deal had cleared in Washington D.C., California was slated to get $55.8 million.

Each state can pick and choose what plan they like best for their state, it was understood. But Fales still is unable to understand, as are others throughout the county, how California arrived at the $55.8 million in revenue sharing.

In San Mateo County, South San Francisco (population 46,000) will get the biggest turn-back, while tiny Brisbane (population 3,000) gets the highest per capita dollar allotment.

Daly City, a bedroom community of some 70,000, will receive a dollar figure far below South San Francisco. The House bill on revenue sharing, as it is presently designed, is for urban areas, while (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Three Years Later

Gunshot Victim Dies in D.C.

A San Francisco youth died at Mary's Help Hospital Tuesday from a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted three years ago in a freak accident on a Daly City street.

The victim was Daniel Ruydal, 17, a son of Aurelio Ruydal, of De Long Street, San Francisco.

Daniel had been confined to a wheelchair since the incident of November 30, 1969.

After closing up a service station near the corner of Repler City, Daniel and a then-17-year-old companion were walking home.

Daniel's friend carried a .38-caliber revolver in his waistband and he was carrying cash receipts from the service station, police said.

The gun fell from the holster and discharged, with the slug hitting Daniel in the left abdomen and tearing into vital organs. Intensive police investigation of the incident proved it was an accident.

As a matter-of-record, police said the gun was "faultry" and "should not have discharged" on hitting the pavement.

Captain Richard Sims stated this type handgun had a "free-floating firing pin" to prevent just such accidents from ever happening.

"It's a new safety feature on these guns," Sims had said.

Monday, Daniel was taken to the hospital about 9:30 a.m. suffering from a high temperature, hypertension and complaining of chest pains.

He died at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday—two years, 11 months, and 19 days after being shot.

Grants are made available to municipalities and local districts under the Clean Water Grant Program administered by the State Water Resources Control Board and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The grant to the North County District includes $22,500 federal and $49,500 state funds, and to the Guadalupe District $23,750 federal and $106,250 state.

Sewer Grants From U.S. to Daly City

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan has announced that the North San Mateo County Sanitation District will receive a state Clean Water Grant to help finance construction of a new 32-inch diameter, 1,800-foot-long effluent sewer main to connect to the existing ocean outfall to handle high wet-weather flows. The present effluent main does not have the capacity to meet expected peak wet-weather flows of 24 million gallons a day, Ryan said. The combined capacity after completion of the new main will be 27 million gallons a day.

Ryan also announced that the Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District will receive a similar grant to help finance consolidation of the district's wastewater collection system with that of San Francisco.

The project includes construction of a pumping plant, 2,600 feet of 12-inch force main and 6,300 feet of 18-inch force main to transport present and anticipated future wastewater flows to San Francisco's southeast wastewater treatment plant.

On completion of the project, the district's present plant will be abandoned.

Grants are made available to municipalities and local districts under the Clean Water Grant Program administered by the State Water Resources Control Board and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The grant to the North County District includes $22,500 federal and $49,500 state funds, and to the Guadalupe District $23,750 federal and $106,250 state.

UAL 'Turnabout'

By GEORGE GOLDING

United Air Lines and its thousands of San Mateo County employees are engaged in one of the greatest turnabouts in aviation history.

The shift is not only financial, although the airline has moved from a $12,000,000 loss in 1970 to a point where United President Edward Carlson now predicts "we'll see black ink by the end of the year."

There's an even bigger shift coming in "image." The biggest and one of the oldest of airlines, United has always tried to present to the public a dignified, efficient, reliable, appearance.

From the outside, dignity can sometimes be confused with stuffiness, and when the airline industry hit an unexpected travel slump two years ago, United decided it was time to change.

"United's strengths are its dependability, its safety record, its size, and its wide variety of schedules," says Ralph Glisson, senior vice president in charge of the western division of United.

To take advantage of those strengths, United "made some major organizational changes."

Bringing Carlson, a veteran of the hotel business, as president was one change. A new system of operating divisions was set up, coupled with a number of personnel re-assignments.

"United's new look is more than a fleet of refurbished airplanes," explains Mechin Moore, Carlson's assistant and senior vice president of external affairs. "It is a strong dedication to competition, a far more competitive posture, with profit responsibility in the field."

In California, that meant a re-emphasis on the San Francisco-Los Angeles market, with a fleet of "California Commuters."

Such efforts "are beginning to show an improvement at the bottom line" of company profit statements, Mechin said.

Other changes include scheduling "for profit and passenger convenience," service innovations such as "Friendship Service Directors" aboard each 747, and "premium brands of liquor in first class."

"The new look is a constant search for ways to make United more profitable, through satisfying its customers," Mechin said.

There is also a search for new customers, and a series of "Battle-bards" will soon be appearing on U.S. college campuses. United, the airline which only months ago shunned the business of "long-hairs," will now be courting them with student-owned Volkswagens painted electric blue and bedecked with the gaudy emblems and slogans the company is using in its advertising.

United is also out to keep the customers that its older planes, the DC-8s, 707s, 727s and 737s have been losing to the newer, wider, 747s, DC-10s and L-1011s.

Marvin Whitlock, senior vice president in charge of the maintenance base here, said his division's basic job is to "provide an airworthy, clean, comfortable, competitive airplane, at the gate, for on-time departures, 1,500 times a day."

"The reliability of the present jets is far greater than had ever previously been imagined," he says, but they also represent an enormous investment.

Rather than even think about buying new superjets to replace older jets which have already paid themselves off, and which in many instances are better suited to service than the bigger planes would be, United is re-doing the older models.

"It is the nature of our industry to compete," says Ralph Glisson, general manager of United's western division. "We've got to compete, with our image and what we deliver to the customer, and what he sees."

From now on, what the customer sees aboard a United jet is far more important.

San Bruno Accidents Reduced

A 9 per cent reduction in accidents has been achieved in San Bruno as the result of a recently enacted citation system.

It is the San Bruno Selective Enforcement Project, and has been in effect for approximately six months.

Statistics on citation and accident frequency were reviewed by the Stanford Research Institute (SRI) retained by the city, in a quarterly Progress Report covering the period from July 1 through September 30.

In addition to the 9 per cent reduction in accidents, the report also explained that a basic form of an officer merit system was developed and discussed, and a system for checking for accuracy of data inputs to the system was worked out.

The SRI report indicates that the program "has been quite effective." According to the report, there was a significant increase in the rate of issuance of citations.

During the first six months after the program was formally initiated, an average of about 80 citations were issued each month. That same period in 1971, an average of about 240 citations a month were issued.

"Of course, the most important aspect of the program is its effect on the accident picture in San Bruno," said the report.

four-star jet, will be "something else."

"We're putting more pizzazz into our product," said Whittlock. He was standing in a DC-8 which in eight days and at a cost of $85,000 for decoration alone, had had its engines replaced with smokeless engines outside, re-painted, its inside converted from a subdued color scheme to one which can only be described as bright and flashy.

New wall coverings in splashes of pinks and oranges compete with opposite walls in stripes of pink-white-tan and a forward wall panel of solid pale yellow. A "simplified ceiling" new overhead "stow boxes" for car, luggage, and new lighting had been installed and seats re-done as groups of colors: greens, yellows, reds.

"So far, we've had good customer reactions," said Whittlock. There is a new "four-star" hotel service, to and stewardesses serve in floor-length skirts of dark brown flaid, and white blouses with the no-bra look.

Change will be followed by change, the executives said.

"We're going to try to set a pace it will be hard for our competitors to follow," said Whittlock.

Upcoming changes include "automatic ticketing," new stewardess uniforms next spring, new tour packages.

Some of these changes will be the result of employee suggestions.

As part of its huge turnaround, United has placed a greater emphasis on its people. The airline employs 15,000 workers, almost half of them here at San Francisco International.

When the industry came up with standards of huge 747s, the time when customers were suddenly staying away in droves, employees were asked to help fill the empty planes. They responded, promoting future special flights, and a variety of novel ideas.

To them, "ESP" does not mean extra-sensory perception, but "employee sales program."

At the San Francisco maintenance base, a special parking space has been set aside for the exclusive use of the "ESP" salesperson of the month.

There is another for "mechanic of the month" and another for "suggester of the month."

No longer do United's ads reflect a smug acceptance of bigness, and therefore superiority.

Rinky-tink pianos vie with circus billboards, dancing girls clamor against psychedelic backgrounds.

the program an average of 70 accidents per month occurred. The same period last year reported an average of 81 accidents a month, for a decrease this year of about 9 percent.

The report stated that the primary cause of the accident reduction is the selective enforcement program. According to the report, as citation frequency increased, traffic accident frequency decreased.

It also was noted that the 9 percent decrease in accident frequency was accompanied by a decrease in accident severity of almost 15 percent.

"The difference in percentages is caused by the fact that injury accidents are decreasing at a higher rate than non-injury accidents," said the report.

It is assumed in the report that the higher level of enforcement is having an effect on the speeds and the seriousness of accidents in which drivers in San Bruno became involved.

"It seems to be premature to draw conclusions based on these initial statistics," said the report. "It suffices to say that the initial evaluation indicates that the San Bruno Selective Enforcement Program has been very effective indeed."

The report said that further analysis of these trends is being carried out in terms of changes in causation of accidents and charges in types of violations being issued.

SRI recently presented a summary of the San Bruno Citation System Program to the San Mateo County Law Enforcement Association. The meeting was attended by chiefs and police department personnel from departments throughout the county.

The report also stated that a total of about $8,255, or about 46 percent of the project costs, have been incurred. The project is funded through a grant obtained by the San Bruno Police Department. In addition, a presentation on this project is being prepared for a meeting of Traffic Safety officials from the western states to be held in Reno, Nevada, October 23.

San Bruno Police Capt. Bill Cann and Traffic Safety Officer Lt. Hugh Fraser are expected to attend the session.

Despite the heavy Democratic voter registration in the 27th Assembly District of San Mateo County and an outspoken opponent on at least two controversial propositions facing the State Attorney Theodore Long today thinks he can beat opponent Louis J. Papan in November.

Long has spoken out on at least two issues slated to come before voters in the general election — marijuana and the death penalty.

He wants change in both matters.

The former San Bruno city councilman, victim of a recall movement some two years ago, pointed out the fact in a personal interview that the death penalty proposition will likely pass by a commanding figure. But this does not mean capital punishment, as now exists, is the right system, Long said.

Passage of the initiative will probably illustrate the frustration society is experiencing in having an effect on the crime problem," Long said. And the proposition is a chance for people to show this frustration, he explained.

A law that isn't getting results should be changed, Long said. And while one doesn't know if the change will be better "you have to start looking for other ways," he said.

Long feels, however, that putting the matter of capital punishment before the voters is a good idea.

As the marijuana issue, proposed by the San Bruno attorney says he is for "decriminalization of marijuana."

He disagrees with the theory expressed by some that "pot" is the first step toward hard drugs. And he wants the marijuana problem to be treated as a social problem — like alcohol — rather than as a criminal charge.

In pushing for liberalization of the marijuana law, Long drew a comparison with a movement now under way to make prostitution legal.

He opposes legal prostitution on the ground no person would have to degrade women by setting up a prostitution house.

Six Months In Jail for Colma Woman

A 51-year-old Colma woman, Mary C. Shupe, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and five years formal probation last week by Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

A jury of eight women and four men found the defendant guilty in the shooting death of Arthur Chapman, 43, of San Francisco, last Thanksgiving Day.

The defendant fired a shot at the victim in Colma after telling him to pack his belongings and get out of her apartment, according to the evidence. Chapman later collapsed and died of the wound.

Blind Woman's Money

San Bruno Loot Finances Spree

Less than half the $838 stolen from a 58-year-old blind San Bruno woman September 26 has been recovered.

The rest was used to finance a spree to Los Angeles, buy clothes and pay for expensive dates with girlfriends, according to San Bruno Police Detective Joe Kosiba.

He said two youths were arrested in connection with the incident. Booked for grand theft were Allen Haun, 18, of 477 Hazel Avenue, San Bruno, and a 16-year-old companion.

The money, mostly in $20 bills placed inside a bank book, was taken from inside the woman's purse as it hung on a doorknob in her home.

Kosiba said $314.70 of the stolen money was recovered, along with some recently purchased clothes. He said it appears Haun spent most of the money, but the juvenile took the trip to Los Angeles.

According to Kosiba, the woman had narrowed down possible suspects because only family and friends had access to the home.

The juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities and Haun is scheduled to appear in South San Francisco Municipal Court October 10.

Airport Has Fine Plans for Owners of Noisy Aircraft

Operators of noisy airliners, flying in and out of San Francisco International Airport will be fined—once they can be identified.

To that end the Airport Commission has approved an agreement for a $50,000 sound-monitoring system study.

Wyle Laboratories of El Segundo received the contract. The study is scheduled to begin immediately and will be completed by Aug. 15, 1974.

The study will determine what kind of noise monitors should be installed and where.

Installation of the system is expected to cost up to $300,000. It is required at all major airports, under state law.

Once the equipment is in, Deputy Airport Director Thomas G. Berken told commissioners that planes which exceed established noise limits can be identified.

"Noisy aircraft (operators)," he said, "will be fined."

Commissioners heard a report on the problems arising out of last Sunday's cargo airliner crash. It prompted a decision to seek faster investigations from the National Transportation Safety Board.

By federal law, no parts of a plane wreckage can be removed until studied by examiners.

As a result, International Airport was shut down periodically Sunday and Monday, but sections of it had to remain shut-down for several hours because crash examiners were slow in arriving.

Millbrae Blackout

An explosion and fire in a PG&E relay station behind Lyons restaurant in Millbrae Monday caused a power "outage" to 1200 homes and businesses for up to two hours.

Firemen were called at 9:03 a.m., with reports of an explosion in the PG&E transmitter behind Lyons.

Electric company crews were on the job shortly thereafter, and had service restored to many homes and businesses within a short time. A neighboring drugstore and bowling alley, however, remained without electricity until after 11 a.m.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company spokesman said the cause of the circuit failure is still under study, but may have been related to dampness in the wiring.

AN OFF RAMP that numerous drivers appear to go "off." This is the Mission street off-ramp of the Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City. Judging by the tire tracks and curb markings, a number of motorists either fail to slow down to posted 15 MPH speed suggestion, or just don't believe that sharp right hand turn arrow. We'll wager the resultant "bump" from the sharp curb quickly makes them believers. (Post Photo)

Politic Notes

Herb Rhodes, candidate for San Mateo County Supervisor, has announced that Mayor Bernard Lyett of Daly City will act as co-chairman of his campaign committee with Roy Archibald of San Mateo.

Rhodes, the mayor of East Palo Alto who pulled an upset in the primary, winning a spot in the November runoff for retiring Supervisor William Warden's seat on the Board of Supervisors, declared himself "extremely pleased" that Mayor Lyett had joined his team.

"Herb Rhodes is one of those rare combinations — a man who really knows the problems of ordinary people in the North County and who is willing to try for new solutions," Lyett said in accepting the appointment. "Rhodes also has experience in the ways of the county bureaucracy, and the courage to stand against it if necessary."

Mayor Lyett has been a member of the Daly City council for eight years. He is chairman of the San Mateo County Regional Planning Committee, chairman of the North County Sanitation District, and past chairman of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors.

Rhodes, who is a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, has been active in city and county government since 1952. He has received the endorsement of COPE, the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, and a number of conservationist organizations on the Peninsula.

This is only the half of it.

The other half ?

The other half is the pride of owning a Valley Townhome, by Challenge Developments. Consider it. For the same money you are now paying in rent, you could move up to a Valley Townhome. Pride of ownership... a place to call your own. Add to that, the money saved at tax time and the investment you're building for you and your family's future.

Valley Townhomes are available in two bedrooms—some with a den—all with one and one-half baths. Standard no extra cost features include wall-to-wall carpets, built-in washer/dryer, all electric kitchen with range/oven/disposal, underground utilities, private garages and the best privacy of all. No one except you living above or below you.

Come see our furnished models. We'll show you how easily the two halves of it can go together. Take Highway 1 to Pacifica, turn inland on Linda Mar Blvd. left at Oddstad and left at Terra Nova to the Sales Office of our Exclusive Sales Agents, Walker & Lee, Inc., Phone: 359-6373.

Dog Nearly Dies From Scratching Skin Raw

"Last year, a skin problem made our dog Heidi scratch her skin raw. I thought we'd have to put her to sleep, she suffered so. Then a neighbor told me about Sulfadene. I put Sulfadene all over Heidi. She stopped scratching and soon the raw skin completely healed. My vet gave her back more and thick, fat covered Sulfadene saved her life!"

Mrs. I. Schantz, Arlington Hts., Ill.

SULFADENE is a scientific liquid medication you apply to your dog's skin. It works quickly to relieve the most frenzied itching almost instantly. Sulfadene is specially made to cling to the skin to go on working to kill infectious bacteria. Sulfadene also promotes healing of open sores and can spot-solve hot spots. Backfired by kennels and veterinarians, Sulfadene is serious medication for dogs' skin problems.

Record Use at International Airport

Forty thousand people each day are passing through the boarding gates at San Francisco International Airport, setting new monthly and yearly records for passenger traffic.

Although final figures for September are not yet available from all airlines, officials estimated that traffic for the month will exceed 1,200,000.

That would establish a 12-month record of 15,121,000 passengers, the largest number reported through the airport in any year.

Airport Director James K.

Carr said the 12-month total was assisted by a record one-month flow of 1,637,078 passengers through the airport during August.

That figure, exceeded the previous August's total by 12.7 percent, he said; and also topped the previous record month—August, 1969—when 1,575,564 passengers passed through the gates.

"Prospects for a continued growth in air traffic through San Francisco International Airport appear very bright," Carr said.

"The passenger flow since last October has shown gains over the corresponding period for the previous year with new highs recorded for all months, except November.

Carr said air freight volume also continues high, with a record of 62,651,024 pounds for fiscal 1971-72. That is an in-

Pacifican Wounded

Brant A. Ramsay of 1260 Alvarado Avenue, Pacifica, told Sheriff's deputies he was shot in the right chest as the result of his own anger.

Ramsay, who was taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, reported to Deputy Richard Trammel, he had been shooting in the Devil's Slide area when he became angry and threw his 22-caliber old pump rifle with an exposed hammer to the ground. The weapon discharged, Ramsay said, and the bullet struck him in the lower right chest.

Physicians described the wound as superficial, and said the bullet entry and exit wounds were only about an inch apart.

Ramsay never did explain exactly what he was angry about.

Brunan Held In Drug Case

San Bruno police acting on a federal warrant arrested William Boyle of 186 Madison Avenue, San Bruno, last Friday on charges of forging 21 prescriptions for dangerous drugs.

Narcotics inspectors allege Boyle, who was released on $1,000 bail, forged the signature of a local physician on drug prescriptions.

The matter was brought to light during routine prescription checks by the Narcotics Bureau, police said.

Contacted by the Bureau, the physician said he had not written any prescriptions for Boyle for the past three years, police said.

All prescriptions were eskatrazepam or biphemazine, it was learned.

I got rid of unwanted hair in minutes and it stayed off for weeks.

By Alexandra Duval of Santa Barbara, California

The other day, I was reading a beauty column in a teen magazine and a girl wrote and asked how she could get rid of a heavy growth of hair on her legs.

I felt like answering her, but I didn't have her address. I wanted to tell her about a natural organic hair remover I've found that's just super.

Really fantastic. It's called Delia and it keeps hair off my legs much longer than shaving does for my friends. In fact, with Delia, you don't even have to shave. Or use messy, smelly creams or foams. You see, I'm fourteen and being an outdoor girl, I just live in short shorts and bikinis and tennis clothes. So I have to look smooth—at least on my legs. And that's how Delia keeps me. Smooth. No nicks or scrapes or cuts.

You have to follow directions, of course. But they're easy. You put Delia right on your leg. Smooth a special zip cloth over it. Pull—and hair's off. When I feel how smooth my legs are... wow! That Delia really lifts the hair right out. Stays off for weeks, too. And when the hair starts to grow back, it's soft as anything.

Some of the girls I know even use Delia on their arms and upper lips. They think it's great, too.

One thing we've all learned is the longer you use Delia, the less often you have to. Hair just seems to come back sparser and baby soft each time.

You really ought to try it. Honest. Specially if you live in the sun like me.

NOTE: Delia™ Natural Organic Hair Remover. $5.95. Available at PROMINENT SAN MATEO attorney and San Mateo College Trustee, James Torrey, announced his support for Republican Assembly candidate, Ted Long, left, stating that "I have carefully analyzed the qualifications and the quality of the candidates seeking the 27th Assembly District seat, and I am overwhelmingly convinced that Ted is the only candidate who comes to the office with background and training which is going to be essential to solving the hard problems which face this district in the coming years."

'Questions Christians Ask Jews'—Topic

"Questions Christians Ask of Jews" will be the sermon topic of Rabbi Gerald Raiskin at the Sabbath Eve Service of Peninsula Temple Shalom on Saturday, October 21 at 10:30 a.m. Rabbi Raiskin will give the sermon. Kenneth Steven Poppers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Poppers of Millbrae, will become a Bar Mitzvah. A Kiddush will follow.

Musicians Support Long

Assembly candidate and San Bruno attorney Ted Long announced that he has received the support of the Musicians Union. "This added to the tremendous support we are already receiving from labor, particularly the rank and file member, is very welcome," said Long.

Long has taken some strong stands against unneeded development, and many have said that those stands would be popular with labor.

Sabbath Morning Services will take place at Peninsula Temple Shalom on Saturday, October 21 at 10:30 a.m. Rabbi Raiskin will give the sermon. Kenneth Steven Poppers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Poppers of Millbrae, will become a Bar Mitzvah. A Kiddush will follow.

Montana Pastor to Preach In San Bruno Church

The Rev. G. J. Mandigo of Hamilton, Montana, will be speaking October 18 through October 22 at Calvary Community Church, 270 West San Bruno Avenue, San Bruno.

Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday with Sunday services at 11:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. The church is having a potluck dinner at 6 p.m. on Saturday to which all are invited.

The Rev. Mandigo is a candidate for the pastorate of Calvary Community Church. The church will vote on his candidacy on October 25. The previous pastor, Rev. Orville E. Easterly, was called to pastor another Assembly of God church in Roseville, Calif., in August of this year. The Rev. Edward Gomes has been the interim pastor.

Rev. Mandigo and his wife were known as the Musical Mandigos when they began their ministry in 1946. They have since pastored several churches in Montana and Wisconsin.

Rev. Mandigo has been very much involved in interdenominational charismatic clinics dealing with the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and the charismatic gifts of the Spirit as outlined in the New Testament.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the activities planned for October 18-22. Nursery care is provided.

Oppose Prop. 20

Unqualified opposition to Proposition 20, the California Coast Initiative, has been voted by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The move was proposed by Supervisor Robert St. Clair who said the initiative was "poorly drafted."

"There are so many inequities," he said, "that it's not clear at all the effect it would have on our county. We need action on coastal planning but this is certainly not the answer."

Supervisors James Fitzgerald and Ged Day concurred in the action. Jean Passier, long active in Coastside planning, abstained, explaining she had not fully studied the initiative.

The voting supervisors agreed that the county would "lose implementation and policy planning control from the skyline to the ocean."

"I think the people are being hoodwinked by all of this," St. Clair declared. "If (the initiative) is not the savior, there are people coming out for it who couldn't possibly know what it represents to the coast."

"The reason we have this is because the legislature has failed and failed and failed to act."

Fitzgerald noted that much of San Mateo County coast land is landside area, in grades of 50 per cent or more, in agriculture.

al preserve or watershed. He said the measure would, in effect, "stop any development in San Mateo County."

The supervisors concurred with Day's statement that there is a "great need for Coastside planning" but that taking it out of local control was not the answer.

The initiative would set up a commission of elected and appointed citizens to direct development of California's coast.

"If we wanted to do more than $7500 work on our courthouse, it would fall under the jurisdiction of this commission," St. Clair said. "That's how badly this is drawn."

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks. When planning dinner we usually decide upon the entree, the vegetable, the salad and last the dessert. Let's reverse the order today and start with a cake.

This recipe came to me indirectly. Mrs. Mary Jane Stefani lives in Sacramento and shares many recipes with her sister Phyllis Checchettini who generously passed this one on to me and to you good cooks.

This cake is delicious and easy to make; you just mix all the ingredients in the baking pan.

SICILIAN CAKE

- 1 can apple pie slices
- 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- two-thirds cup oil
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup raisins
- 2 eggs

Using a large 9x13-inch ungreased pan, combine the one can apple slices, one-eighth teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, two cups flour, one cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, two thirds cup oil, two eggs, one cup each walnuts and raisins. Mix well. Bake in 350-degree oven 35 to 45 minutes, until nicely browned. Serve warm with whipped cream.

NOTE: If using a glass baking dish, lower the heat to 325 degrees and bake the full 45 minutes.

Now that you have your dessert made, how about eye-appealing and tasty entree of chicken, yellow rice and green peas?

CHICKEN AND YELLOW RICE

- 1 two-pound chicken or chicken parts
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 green pepper, chopped
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (303 size) tomatoes, drained
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 package of rice Risotto
- 1 package frozen peas

Brown the two pounds chicken in the fourth cup oil, add the one chopped onion, one minced garlic clove, half green pepper and cook until tender. Add the two-ounce salt, fourth teaspoon pepper, bay leaf and two cups tomatoes; plus about half the drained juice. Cover and cook slowly on top of stove until chicken is tender, about 40 minutes.

When chicken is just about cooked, prepare the yellow rice as directed on package. Pour rice onto large platter; top with chicken. Thicken the tomato and vegetable sauce and pour over chicken and rice. Arrange the cooked peas around the edge of platter.

Serves 4 generously.

Millbrae Approves Park Work

The Millbrae City Council Tuesday approved a $77,453 contract for improvement of three major parks. City Clerk Isobel Smart reported.

The three areas include the facility located behind City Hall in the downtown area, another in the Mills Estate and a third in Millbrae Meadows.

Mrs. Smart said the original estimate of $87,000 for landscape improvements was reduced by the council.

The council also heard a report on the proposed joint powers agreement waste water disposal system project. Millbrae and Burlingame are combining forces to build a deep water outfall line to the middle of the bay.

The cost, according to the firm of Jenks & Adamson, will be about $640,000.

The council will give further study to the plan at its next regular meeting to be held October 24. The date change is necessitated by the intervening League of California Cities convention in Southern California.

The board listened to a report on the meaning of confusing state legislation involving environmental impact study requirements. The result, it was agreed, was continuing concern and confusion in understanding how much cities are expected to do. It was noted the cost will be a big one for city taxpayers.

Delays in the installation of a cable TV system in Millbrae was the subject of extended discussion. Only Phase I involving Millbrae Meadows has been completed. The installation has been broken down into seven phases. A further report is being awaited.

Woman, 84, Impaled On Bedpost 3 Days

An elderly Daly City woman dropped by to see his mother who lived alone on Bepler Street.

Yesterday, however, there was no response to his knock. Breaking open a window, Richard crawled in and found his mother in her bedroom with the bedpost imbedded in her arm.

The son had last seen his mother Sunday afternoon. The accident apparently occurred shortly after he left the home. For three days, Mrs. Siess had hung there, trying to reach the phone a few inches from her fingertips.

Each day she grew weaker from lack of food.

When her son found her she was in shock and very weak, according to police.

In order to rescue the victim, the bedpost had to be sawed off.

below her arm. She was taken to Mary's Help Hospital by Mercy Ambulance with part of the bedpost remaining in her arm.

The object was removed at the hospital and Mrs. Siess is reported in "very satisfactory" condition today. Authorities did not care to speculate on how long she might have held on had her son not found her when he did.

Fire Display In Daly City

Fire extinguishers and first aid kits will be given away on Saturday, October 14. The public is invited to attend and register for the drawing, and talk to the firemen.

Injuries to SSF Men Told

Wednesday was a bad day for South San Francisco warehousemen.

Fritz P. Wieck, 56, 341 B Street, an employee of Folger's Coffee, was admitted to Peninsula Hospital with a fractured left elbow after running into a retaining wall on his bike.

He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Armand C. Palmieri, 55, 849 West Orange Avenue, was admitted to the hospital with a head injury received in an auto accident while working for the P.E. O'Hare Company, San Francisco.

Palmieri was also reportedly recovering satisfactorily.

Snorkle Show In Daly City

The public is invited to view a demonstration of rescue and fire-fighting equipment Saturday morning at 11:30 in Serramonte Center's East parking lot in Daly City.

The day ends Fire Prevention Week. Daly City firemen will demonstrate their snorkle by making a rescue from the roof of Serramonte Center. They will also demonstrate their hose and truck equipment at the same time.

Volunteer firemen will also be on duty on the Mall with displays and equipment.

A public drawing will be held Saturday afternoon, when fire extinguishers and first aid kits will be given away.

Wheels Taken In a Hurry

Within a half-hour from the time Gerald G. Beddell of San Bruno parked his car in its stall, he found that someone had jacked it up and removed the four tires and rims. Police found a jack at the scene.

The 26-year-old butcher told police the incident occurred between 12:30 and 1 a.m., Thursday. He valued the loss at $575.

Teacher Morale Under Study in Mateo School District

By JOHN HORGAN
Just how bad is teachers' morale in the San Mateo City School District?
The leadership of the San Mateo Elementary Teachers Association wants to find out.
Officials of SMETA have asked the California Teachers Association, with headquarters in Burlingame, to begin a morale study of teachers in the district as soon as possible.
The first steps in the conducting of the survey have already been taken. Private interviews at some later date if and when something truly serious did come up in the district.

One CTA official, however, feels that things are serious enough right now to warrant a survey.
J. Quentin Mason, a CTA field representative for San Mateo County, says the district has done a "complete flip-flop" in the last few years, going from a "model" district for the entire state to something less than that now.

"Things seem to have gone 360 degrees the other way lately," Mason says. "The teachers feel alienated. This kind of bad feeling must be headed off as soon as possible."
It is Mason's belief that some teachers in the district are worried about Thomas and the rationale behind bringing him into its public information officer San Mateo from Florida.

It is hardly a secret that some teachers are indeed disenchanted with the manner in which the prior superintendent, Harold DePue, was eased out of his post late in the summer of 1971.
In addition, there has been concern on the part of some teachers that the board has been trying to muffle public dissent in the district through its public information officer and other means.

In truth, however, Thomas has not been a pawn of the trustees at all. On more than one occasion, he has publicly backed the trustees over matters which he considered to be important.
For example, he carefully pointed out to the board two weeks ago that it could, if it wanted, grant more than 3.2 increases to the teachers.

Still, distrust between the teachers and the administration remains.
Mason says a three-member panel will soon begin to hear testimony from teachers, administrators and others on morale in the district.
The interviews will be private and kept confidential. Mason explains that there will be no recommendations stemming from the interviews, only findings.

A key question in all this is whether or not deep dissatisfaction is truly widespread over issues other than salary.
Once source close to the trustees says it is not. It is his feeling that it is a handful of individuals, who have key positions in SMETA and on that body's salary committee, who have kept the cauldron of distrust and unhappiness boiling.

The spokesman points out that, as he sees it, too often the least professional teachers rise to positions of authority within bodies like SMETA and then tend to express opinions which are not necessarily representative of the group as a whole at all.
This could be a major finding of the CTA-organized committee.

A News Analysis

with teachers and others will take place as soon as all the preliminary procedures have been finished, perhaps as early as next week.

SMETA has raised five points which it wants discussed in the study. They are:

—The approach taken by the district during the Audubon School situation last semester.
It is the feeling of SMETA that there was little support for teachers during the trouble there in the spring of 1972.
—The relationship of the district's Board of Trustees and the teachers. A number of complaints have been made in the last year about at least one trustee who has gone to certain schools and interrupted class activity to talk with teachers.
According to SMETA president Mrs. Gene Heath, "That kind of thing has to be stopped. They (the trustees) are welcome to come and visit but they should not take up out of our classrooms while children are there."

—The relationship of the district's administration and the trustees. IT is the opinion of SMETA's leaders that the board has recently usurped the authority of the administration in a number of decisions.

—The general issue of staff morale.

—The unilateral action of the superintendent, Dr. David Thomas, to set up criteria in the district for applying the Stull Bill, a new device which would evaluate the performance of teachers and other educators in California.

SMETA, particularly lately in the wake of September's summer salary dispute, has taken aim at the trustees in at least three of the five listed concerns.
Mrs. Heath said Monday that it is her organization's belief that the board is not qualified to judge on matters relating to curriculum, something the trustees have done with increasing regularity lately.

Teachers, who make up the bulk of SMETA's membership of some 800 certificated people, are also considering what to do about that 3.2 per cent salary increase which, they feel, is inadequate.

Although the salary issue is not contained in the list of particulars in the morale study, the manner in which bargaining was conducted by both sides earlier in the fall did not lead to much coming together.

In fact, SMETA is continuing to mull ways to combat the salary decision, through a court case if necessary.

District Superintendent Dr. David Thomas says, as far as he is concerned, he has asked that the study be dropped.

He believes that time will soothe many of the teachers' complaints. He notes that the study was first considered and proposed back in April.

"I feel that this study is unnecessary this time," Thomas says. He counters several of the teachers' concerns by stating that:

—The administration has a good working relationship with the board.
—The Audubon situation is being worked out well and that problem is now past history; something that occurred when he wasn't even here.

—The teachers have had a proportionate share of input into deliberations on how to implement the Stull Bill. But, he adds, a request for meeting and conferring on that matter was denied.

It is Thomas' view that a morale study might be more appropriate.

Opinions and Impressions

(Last of a series)

Dolph Camilli has had a long and interesting career in baseball, and he's formed a lot of opinions and impressions, which follow, as space allows:

LEO DUROCHER — "Durocher had a magic wand. He never seemed to miss when he called for a squeeze or a hit and run. A hunch player. He'd feel hot and clap his hands and say, 'Okay, let's go,' and he'd start gambling, and they'd all pay off. And as a player, he was a fine shortstop. Got rid of the ball as fast as any man I've ever seen."

BABE HERMAN — "He was no dummy, as the papers made him out to be. He was a smart man, a good baseball man, but he made a few mistakes base running and in the field and the papers picked it up and blew it out of proportion. I never actually thought he was that bad a fielder, and in fact I saw him make some good plays. And he was one of the best breaking ball hitters I ever saw. He could hit any type pitching, righties, lefties, anything. He and Cookie Lavagetto were probably one of the best hit and run combinations in baseball history."

CARL HUBBELL — "The toughest pitcher I ever saw was Hubbell's screwball. When he had his real good one, boy, he threw that damn thing and, geez, here it would come and you'd swing and the ball would just disappear just far away on you. When you got through swinging you'd see something down low going by. The funny thing is, later on when he struck out all those great American League hitters in the All Star game, he had lost his great screwie. He still had a good one, but at least you could pick up the spin on it. Before, you could never see the spin. But it didn't make any difference if he got it down."

GEORGE WEISS — "He had the reputation of being aloof, but he was actually a painfully shy guy. When I was back east for an all-timer's game during the World's Fair, they took us all on a tour of the fair. Weiss and I ended up together on all the kid's rides."

WALTER MAILES — "Walter used to brag a lot, but I'll tell you, he could back up what he claimed. In his prime, Mailes could throw B-B's, he was as fast as Sam McDowell ever was. And he DID have the greatest move in baseball history. I was playing first base the day he picked five men off first base in the Coast League. And that included Jigger Stutz, one of the best base runners of all time, twice. The second time Jigger got on first, he looks at me and says, 'That guy ain't gonna get ME again.' And with that he takes no more than a foot's lead off the base. As he's finishing his sentence, on about the 'again,' Walter picks him off."

JUAN MARICHAL — "Marichal lost something off his fast ball a year ago. He's also lost an edge on his control. His big problem this year is he's lost confidence because of the tough games he's lost, the poor support he's had. Pitchers, like hitters, have to have confidence. But I'll tell you, he'll give you a well-pitched game almost every time out, even when he's 'bad.'"

CHARLEY FINLEY — "Finley's not afraid to spend money to win. I think he'd give away half his fortune if he could have the world's championship."

ED CEREGHINO — "Ed never really threw that hard until he got into AAA ball, and by then, he could fire. In Sacramento the catchers could hardly hold his stuff in the bullpen. But in a game, he'd tighten up and lose the good live stuff."

ON THE SPITTER — "There are at least 20 to 30 pitchers in the majors using the spitter with some regularity. If it were legalized and pitchers could go back to some of the old, obvious methods, when guys really loaded up and you could see 'em flying as they let 'em go, and the ball would break a couple of feet instead of like the 'fast sliders' they supposedly throw now, it would be very tough to control and really wouldn't help that many pitchers."

ON THE PERRY-MCDOWELL TRADE — "I can't figure that one. What difference was it whether Perry was a lefty or a righty? He's a pitcher. He'll always give you a well-pitched game. McDowell is a thrower, erratic. I guess what the Giants had in mind is that there are a lot of good left-handed hitters in the league to be stopped. But it doesn't make much difference to Perry how they bat. In the old days that kind of thinking may have held true, but there are lefties nowadays who get out righties better, and vice-versa, because of the refinement of the screwball. Actually, Duffy is the one Cleveland really wanted, and the Giants might have been able to get away with giving them one of their young pitchers instead of Perry. I think that trade killed the Giants."

ON 20 GAME WINNERS AND 20 GAME LOSERS — "You see, even though you might classify that Perry-McDowell trade as even-up because they are both 20 game winners, you've got to keep in mind that there are 20 game winners and there are 20 game losers. Perry hates to lose, and he wins the big ones. I played with and against pitchers just like Perry. Guys like Freddie Fitzsimmons, Johnny Allen and Whit Wyatt. When we won the pennant in 1941, for instance, Wyatt and Kirby Higbe both won 22 games. Higbe threw hard, like McDowell, and was erratic. Higbe won as many as Wyatt but he didn't belong in the same ball park with him. Wyatt, you get him one run, he'd win. Higbe, for some reason you always got plenty of runs for him. (Note: Higbe's ERA that year was 3.14; Wyatt's 2.34.) And Wyatt was always pitted against the other team's best pitcher."

ON THE OLD PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE — "I still run into a lot of old Coast League fans who say they liked the Coast League better than the majors. Maybe it was because of the personal contact, the hominess of the stadiums, the friendliness of the players, who were often next door neighbors because they almost all lived permanently in the cities in which they played, and were therefore very accessible. Why, the Coast League could even compete for players with the big leagues in those days because of this rapport between players and fans. I'll give you an example. You may remember Vic Piretti, the Oakland kid first baseman who was tragically killed in that minor league bus accident. Well, we signed Vic when I was managing Oakland, because Vic had seen me play many games as a kid and had sort of adopted me as his boyhood hero. The Red Sox offered him $10,000 to sign, but he signed with Oakland for $2,500 because I had signed autographs for him and been pleasant to him when he was a kid."

And Dolph Camilli is still the same nice guy, even to sports columnists.

BRUISES, BROKEN BONES

Mills' Win Hurts

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE

Mills High's football team won the battle last night but lost its general staff as the Vikings whipped visiting Balboa 14-13 at Burlingame Field but watched the entire starting backfield get wiped out.

At one time or another these Vikings had to leave play: fullback Ken Place, halfback Dave Weil, halfback Jeff Shea, halfback Larry Jones and quarterback Eric Nielsen.

Most returned to action but Place, Mills' best runner, was reported to have suffered a broken ankle (he was in agony) and Weil a sprained ankle.

Luckily Vike coach Bob Field was able to make a lot of field promotions — Place and Weil were out but Jones and amazing junior halfback-quarterback Kurt McCracken left little to be desired in replacement.

They each picked up 71 yards. McCracken on 14 carries and Jones in 12. McCracken scored on a three-yard run and, in a brief stint at quarterback, hit Bill Giavina with an 11-yard pass for Mills' first score.

The visitors from the City opened with six straight pass attempts before executing a perfect draw to Alan Smirli that went for 62 yards and a 7-0 lead.

Smith wound up as the game's leading rusher with 116 yards in nine carries.

Balboa was almost as impressive after the kickoff, going 66 yards in 11 plays to score. But that failed.

Jones added the run on the conversion for the all-important two points that provided the margin of victory.

Mitty Defeats Serra Runners

Serra High's cross-country team suffered its first WCAL loss of the season 36-42, to Mitty.

Riordan, a league power of the past, finished third in the triangular with 44.

Best Padre runners were Dave Schrock (second) and Steve Palladino (fifth). Schrock ran a good time of 16:39 on the three-mile Crystal Springs course in Belmont.

Serra's frosh, undefeated after 12 meets, knocked off the toughest competition of the year in Riordan, 28-30.

Trojans Top CM Booters

Skyline College's soccer team blanked visiting College of Marin, 2-0, to move into third place after the first round of the Camano Notre Conference schedule.

League leading De Anza's 3-2 win over West Valley knocked the Vikings (2-2-1) into fourth place, a point behind Skyline, which is 3-2.

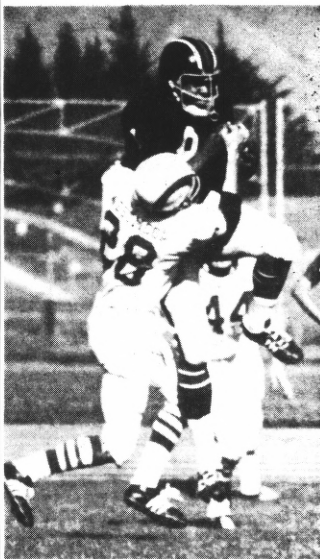

Skyline offensive leader Denry Feeney, who has been nursing a charley horse, played only four minutes but it was enough to tally the clinching Trojan goal in the second half. Coach Norm Friedberger then rested his ace for Friday afternoon's showdown at second place Canada, as the second half of league action starts.

Skyline's defense, led by soph "sweeper" Mark Dillon from El Camino High, has given up an average of just one goal a game. Canada edged Skyline in the season opener, 1-0.

Torres Victor In Soph Invite

El Camino High took second place in the sophomore division of the cross country invitational at Menlo - Atherton recently, thanks to the speed of Jose Torres.

Torres won the soph event by running the 2.2 mile course in 11:34.0, just ahead of teammate Frank Colino, clocked in 11:41.45-0.

SERRAMONTE'S DAVE Fletcher locks onto a Jess Torres on a quick out pattern and is immediately brought down by Ram defender Darrell Kettner. The Regents moved the ball well on short patterns, but became the fourth shutout victim of the Rams. (Tom Chergosky Photo)

Capuchino Machine Stuck

By STEVE JOHNSON
Capuchino High's football fans like to refer to their heroes as the "Green Machine."

That's a carry-over from the Mustang glory years of the late fifties, when they won league titles in everything but checkers.

But those days have long since disappeared. And yesterday on the Cap Field, the dream was over.

The Mustangs, now the smallest school (and once the largest) in the district, dropped their third straight nonleague game to Mt. Eden of Hayward, 39-14.

Vince Marchi, coach, says a well-earned bye before opening his MPL season at Burlingame, had little to be happy about. Cap was dominated and outclassed everywhere. Mt. Eden turned an early fumble recovery into a quick score, and never looked back.

Three of the invaders' first five passes went for easy scores. The Mustang secondary got burned long all afternoon. "We missed a few assignments," said assistant Dan Lombi.

That wasn't the only problem. Cap mistakes, most at critical times, came too often. Both Tungs fumbles set up scores; a blocked punt was turned into a touchdown; another Cap bobbles came on Mt. Eden's one-yard line.

S.S.F. Wins League Opener

By JERRY LITTELL

The long drought is over for the El Camino Colts but they must wait until next year at least to reap much harvest in the North Peninsula League.

At 8:11 p.m. last night flanker Ken Acosta gathered in a Rich Bergamaschi aerial in full stride on the 45 and raced the final 53 yards to touchdown—the first ever scored by El Camino against South San Francisco since the two teams began play 10 years ago.

It wasn't quite enough, however, as the powerful Warrior running attack manhandled the Colt defensive line for three of the four quarters in running to a 21-7 decision in the conference opener. "In a way I'm almost glad it finally happened," said winning coach Jay DeJong, looking 10 years younger after that scoreless streak had been ended. "It makes a whole new series out of our meetings and we can get down to playing football again. The win was just a by-product."

It was the previously stuttering Warrior ground game that did the job in this one. And that new spark of life was supplied by junior halfback John McKuen, who came off the bench to scramble for 103 yards, the first time a S.S.F. runner has cracked the century mark this year. And it was his ball carrying, plus a blasting display by the Warrior offensive line in the first and fourth quarters, that set up the first two Warrior scores.

So dominating was the Warrior ground game that 18 of the 19 first downs came in a cloud of dust. Of those 18, 14 came before halftime. A combination of the sudden Camino score plus a determined Colt bid for another in the third period made things interesting after intermission.

Everett Herrera slammed over from the one for the first Warrior score two minutes before the first quarter ended. But it was McKuen, coming in for 57 yards in six carries on that drive, that paced the offense.

Then a fumble recovery by Steve Wilburn on the 46 set up the second TD drive capped by quarterback Rhod Wallace's 12-yard pounce through the Colt secondary. But it was here that the Colts ended 38 minutes of football frustration.

The momentum swung 180 degrees around at the start of the third period. The scoreless stigma gone Camino started rolling again until Mason Larkin stopped a 66-yard drive with an interception of Bergamaschi's pass on the 13.

Bergamaschi did an admirable job subbing for the injured Rudy Castellani who sat out the opener as a precautionary measure after injuring his left ankle last week against Burlingame's Panthers.

It remained scoreless through the third and it wasn't until 3:32 remained that again Herrera popped over from the one to make it 21-7. Again it was McKuen's 39-yard, five-carry assist that aided the Warriors.

JEFFERSON GRAD

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Ronald Van Haueter, son of Mrs. Juanita Kennedy of 48 Teresa, Daily City, has received his first U.S. Air Force duty assignment after completing basic training at the Air Training Command in Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman has been assigned to a unit of the U.S. Air Force Security Service at Goodfellow AFB, Tex., for training and duty as a communications analysis specialist. Airman Van Haueter, a 1970 graduate of Jefferson High School, attended Skyline College, San Bruno, his father, Roger P. Van Haueter, resides at 520 Del Mar, Pacific.

Search Begins For South S.F. Girl's Slayer

The ex-husband of an attractive store clerk shot to death in an effort to find out how she arrived home.

A Coroner's Office spokesman said the victim was 5'5" in height, weighed 120 pounds, brunette and wearing a department store smock and slacks at the time of the slaying.

Two months ago, less than four blocks away in Daly City, a young waitress for a San Bruno restaurant was murdered with an axe as she walked her dog near her Mission Street home about midnight.

No suspects in that case have been arrested as yet.

The waitress was hacked and stabbed 30 times and her body thrown on a dirt road where it was found early on a Sunday morning by a young bicycle rider.

McDonald said the victim was 25-year-old Katherine Zbyrowski of Gary, Indiana.

Before moving to Colma, Miss Zbyrowski had been seeing Marine in Fresno. She had broken off the relationship upon relocating in the North County, according to reports.

Four shots were fired into the body of the woman from a person sitting in the front seat of a late model Cadillac, according to McDonald.

McDonald said the San Mateo County Coroner's Office reported several wounds were found in the body, but only four slugs—perhaps from a .38 or .39-caliber handgun using "dum dum" bullets—were found.

Three shots struck the woman in the chest and one in the arm. All were fired at "extremely close range," chief McDonald said.

The victim never regained consciousness and died at Mary's Help Hospital shortly after 3 p.m., authorities said.

Several persons who heard the shots thought a vehicle had backed up. McDonald said. As the suspect car sped off another car's headlights illuminated the crumpled body lying on the sidewalk in front of 429 A Street. He was expected to start quest.

Coast Guard Pilots Make Mercy Trips

During Monday's driving rainstorm Coast Guard pilots from San Francisco International Airport flew two mercy missions in carry tiny infants to Stanford Medical Center.

A one-day-old infant was brought directly to Stanford Hospital grounds from Santa Cruz by Coast Guard helicopter. The child had a lung problem.

Another infant, five days old, was hurried from Modesto to Stanford in the Coast Guard's long-distance rescue plane.

Coast Guard spokesmen say they were told the baby was a member of the Gaby winery family, whose doctor had ordered it to Stanford because of a breathing difficulty.

A Stanford medical team met the Coast Guard plane at Moffett Field and flew to Modesto in order to start treatment of the child on the return trip.

Rescue missions such as these, said a Coast Guard spokesman, are made only when civilian air ambulance services are not available. Both trips were necessary yesterday, they said, because the civilian helicopter firm which is contracted to Stanford suffered an equipment failure earlier in the day.

D.C. Traffic Death Told

A 23-year-old Daly City man was killed early Sunday when he lost control of his car in South San Francisco, the California Highway Patrol reported.

James McEntee, 331 Irvington Street, was driving on the Produce Avenue southbound on-ramp of Bayshore Freeway when he lost control of his car, ran off the roadway and overturned.

The accident happened at approximately 1 a.m. CHP officers could offer no explanation for the accident.

It was the second Daly City man killed in a solo accident within the week. Donald Loffen died when he lost control of his motorcycle on Coast Freeway in Pacifica Saturday.

Two Killed In Accidents

A 24-year-old Daly City motorcyclist was killed instantly Saturday when he lost control of his bike while heading toward the Edgemar freeway in Pacifica — causing him to sail some 45-feet through the air.

Earlier the body of a 71-year-old Belmont building contractor was found in his auto which had swerved off the San Mateo-Half Moon Bay road and had careened through some 30-feet of heavy brush just west of the Skyline boulevard summit.

The body of Donald D. Lofton, of 240 Lake Merced boulevard, Apt. 19, Daly City, was discovered by Pacifica police shortly after 7 a.m. lying in some place plant near the Oceana avenue onramp to the freeway.

Highway Patrolman F. D. Fellows reported Lofton had apparently been heading toward the freeway when his motorcycle hit a rain gutter or paddle marker after sliding through some gravel, causing the vehicle and its driver to fly through the air.

Coroner's Investigator Ron Kindred estimated that Lofton had been dead since about midnight, and reported the crash had apparently killed him instantly. He is survived by his wife and a small child.

The body of Edwin Swanson of 1808 Oak Knoll drive, Belmont, was found lying in the front seat of his car by Sheriff's Sgt. Ervin Pronske shortly after 4 a.m. when Pronske noticed the lights of Swanson's car some 15-feet below the road level. The car's motor was still running.

Coroner's Investigator Robert Conley said that Swanson, who had his business in San Carlos, may have suffered a heart attack as no skid marks were found.

Officer John Wells said that Swanson had apparently driven to a spring alongside the road on the other side of the summit.

U.S. Fashion Show Coming

Employees of United Airlines, including Stewardesses, Ticket Agents and Stewards will be modeling the latest fashions from leading Tanforan Park Stores.

The show will take place October 14 at 1:30 p.m. in the central mall area.

Stores participating are Sears, Penney's, The Emporium, Foxmoor Casuals, The Fashion, Nobby and Kimo's.

First Flower Show at Center Starts On Friday

The first annual flower show to be held at the Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno will be held on October 13, 14 and 15 in the Garden center of the Mall.

Theme of the show is based on a horse-racing motif and is called "Winner's Circle."

Chairman of the show is Mrs. Jack Ventrello and entries are being handled by Mrs. George Doernhoefer of the Hilltoppers Garden Club. Also assisting on the show are the Mesdames A.

Norman Huff, William Knill, Ray Kirk and Charles Kunz of the San Bruno Garden Club. Staging will be done by Mrs. Richard Thomas of the Hilltoppers Club.

"Art in Action" will be held daily on the Mall on an hourly basis. Various members of garden clubs will show how to contrive flowers from oddsends of material, bottle people, miniature arrangements, regular arrangements and other sides of the artistic classes. Also scheduled to be seen will be jewelry making by someone of the Jewel Thief staff. Other commercial and education exhibits will also be displayed throughout the Mall area.

In the artistic arrangement section of the show, categories will range from the very novice to invitational arrangements by the Master arrangers. Premiums will be given in a sliding scale for all first, second and third awards. This holds true in the horticulture section as well. There will also be a Junior section with ribbons and trophies to be awarded only. The public is invited to join in the show as it is open to all.

The show is being sponsored by the Tanforan Shopping Center and will be open to the public from 1 p.m. October 13, through 3 p.m. October 15.

Garden club members from all over the Peninsula are expected to participate in this show. Judges will be from the bay area and will also have arrangements in the invitational class.

The miniature arrangements will be featured in the window of a jewelry store on the mall. These range from three to five inches and are perfect replicas of the larger arrangements. Material and containers must be on a tiny scale in keeping with the category.

A NEW (or old depending on your memory) way of cutting hair has been initiated at Tanforan Park Shopping Center. "The Trimmers" is located on the third floor of the new Emporium store at Tanforan, specializing in cutting men's or women's hair using only hand shears as it was done many years ago. Roger Jordan is the manager at the Tanforan store as well as one in Palo Alto. Noreen Powers is the assistant manager at Tanforan.

Barnum and Bailey Posters at Gallery

Now through November 12, Peoples Gallery's Triosks is exhibiting world-famous turn-of-the-century Barnum and Bailey Circus posters at Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

Peoples Gallery is the unusual new advertising medium that displays reproductions of fine art along with contemporary advertising graphics.

The works of art are displayed on three-sided triosks resembling the kiosks that ornament the streets and malls of Europe's more sophisticated cities.

This collection of posters promoting "The Greatest Show on Earth" is for those with a penchant for nostalgia.

Phineas T. Barnum, often called the "World's Greatest Showman," recruited the finest poster illustrators in the world and helped develop full-color lithography far beyond the known

Association Leaders Elected

The Tanforan Park Merchants Association has installed their officers for the coming year. Named for a second term was Al Lindberg, manager of Thom McAn Shoes.

Also installed were Joni Feldman of Foxmoor Casuals, vice-president; Doug Runciman of J. K. Gill, secretary; Dick Reese of the Plum Tree, treasurer; and Paul Rosenthal, Zales Jeweler; Bill Voorhees, The Emporium; Jim Madigan, J. C. Penney; Lou Carpine, Sears; and Frank Haggerty, The Hapsmith Company.

capability of that time. The phenomenal success of the Barnum and Bailey Circus was the result of great shows and spectacular poster advertising.

Features of Hickory's Way of Helping Bruno Center American Cancer Society

All stores at Tanforan Park Shopping Center are open weeknights until 9:15 p.m.; Saturdays 9:30 a.m. 'til 5:30 p.m. and Sundays 12 noon 'til 5 p.m.

The center is the largest climate controlled enclosed mall on the San Francisco Peninsula. Three major stores — Sears, Penney's and The Emporium — anchor the one million square foot shopping center. One of the unusual aspects of shopping at Tanforan is the parking.

Many of the 5000 free parking stalls are under cover and out of the weather, enabling a customer to enter the stores without ever going outside.

Hickory Farms of Ohio, Inc., recently contributed in a unique way to the Lucas County, Ohio Chapter of the American Cancer Society at a Golf Exhibition recently given by top touring pros Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and John Miller and sponsored by such chapter.

Helping to wage the battle against cancer, the golfers appeared at an annual morning clinic, luncheon and afternoon Golf Exhibition at the 18 hole, par 71 course at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio. Inverness has been the scene of three U.S. Opens in 1921, 1931 and 1957.

The theme of this year's event was "fight cancer with a checkup and a check." Before the match, Hickory Farms of Ohio, Inc., pledged to donate to the local chapter $100 for each birdie, $500 for each eagle and $1000 for each double eagle or ace scored by each golfer during the exhibition.

Before the afternoon was over, the pros were presented with a total of $1600 from Hickory Farms of Ohio, Inc., which they accepted on behalf of the chapter. Checks were presented after each birdie was made. A total of sixteen birdies were scored by the pros — Nicklaus, 6; Trevino, 7, and Miller, 3.

LEE TREVINO, (left) shows Jack Nicklaus his gift of BEEF STICK Summer Sausage he received from Hickory Farms of Ohio for a birdie he made on the 14th hole of the American Cancer Society's 1972 Golf Exhibition. Hickory Farms is located on the upper mall next to Penney's Tanforan.

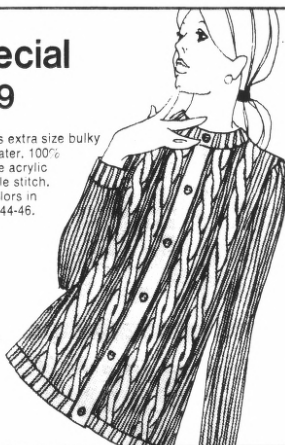

TANFORAN PARK Shopping Center, Putnam Buick and Opel Division staged a point-in of Brand new '73 Opels recently. Students from College of San Mateo, Skyline College and San Francisco State competed for prizes. Shown here are the winning entries. Inset is the first runner up car, "the road toad" from Skyline and the first place car from College of San Mateo. The students won a total of $225.00 in merchandise certificates, a Bronze plaque for the schools and the use of a new Opel for a month.

Safeguard against fires, the Red Cross urges

To keep deaths and injuries from fires down to a minimum, the American Red Cross today urged householders to take every safeguard against fires in the home.

Its cautions were issued on the eve of National Fire Prevention Week, proclaimed by President Nixon for the week of October 8-14.

"Last year, 5,700 deaths from fires and burns were prevented by simple and practical measures," Charles W. Russell, national director of Red Cross Safety Programs, said. "Total property loss from fires in buildings of all kinds was more than $2,000,000,000."

Many of these fires could have been prevented by simple and practical measures, he said.

Russell remarked that a majority of deaths from fires in homes was from the inhalation of smoke or gases. He urged that everyone take a Red Cross first aid course which teaches artificial respiration, fire prevention measures, and emergency care of burns.

He added that every family should have a fire escape plan and practice it.

ROBERT WILHELM, Emporium-Capwell president and "Hap" Smith were featured speakers at the grand opening ceremonies for the new Emporium store at Tanforan. Smith said The Emporium, along with Sears and Penney's, gives the San Bruno center the three finest merchandisers in the nation.

Miss Rodeo Is Chosen

Judy Landergen, a 19-year-old horsewoman from San Martin, Calif., has been selected Miss Rodeo California.

She was picked from a field of candidates from all over California and was judged on horsemanship, appearance, poise and personality.

Judy will reign over the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition October 27 through November 5 at the Cow Palace in San Mateo County and go on to Las Vegas in December to compete in the Miss Rodeo American Pageant.
